Linda Bowers serves as an accountant on FPLG's Nonprofit & Business Accounting team, focusing on the bookkeeping and tax filing needs of the firm's nonprofit and business clients. Linda holds a master's degree in Sports Administration with a focus on nonprofit entities from Farleigh Dickinson University and a bachelor's degree in economics from Princeton University.

Ms. Bowers has managed her own bookkeeping business since 2006, as she is passionate about creating, promoting, supporting and leading nonprofit entities for over 30 years. Her interest in accounting is fueled by the desire to assist clients with reaching their financial goals which in turn allows them to pursue their missions and sustainable success. She strongly believes in the power of a nonprofit organization's abilities to unite talent, energy, and resources as an effective way to promote a mission and serve the common good.

When not keeping an eye on the books, Ms. Bowers enjoys exploring the sights around Dallas, playing golf and tennis or spending time with family and friends.
